(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., Dec. 9.—One of the prettiest parties of the present season was given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. H. H. Harris at her home in Rivermont Avenue in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Adams. Harris. The residence has recently undergone extensive alterations and provided a beautiful setting for the brilliant event. The hostess and honoree, Mrs. Harris' daughter, Miss Annie Harris, received in the living room, which was aglow with chrysanthemums. Misses Elizabeth D. Adams, Mary Adams and Mattie Scott welcomed the guests and directed them to the reception room. The guests were then shown to the sun parlor, where an ice was served. Mrs. D. B. Ryland, Mrs. Gordon Moore, Mrs. E. C. Wiley and Miss Sue Adams had charge of the dining-room, and Mrs. J. H. Hancock and Mrs. H. B. Spencer were in charge of the sun parlor. ## PAISLEY THINGS FOREVER

"Paisley forever" says the fashionable woman and buys herself negligees, chemises, petticoats and slips of Paisley-patterned fabrics. Nobody thought it would last—this vogue for Far Eastern designs. Having proved their beauty through several centuries, however, Indian and Persian patterns can easily withstand the strain of being discovered by modern designers. They even can survive being popular!
